

Introductory Paragraph for the Seattle 10 Exhibition

Innovation doesn't just happen in a lab, in an office building, or in front of a computer - it's all around us, especially in a place like Seattle. Together with GeekWire, we have conducted a search for The Seattle 10, the most promising and innovative startup companies in the region. These young companies range from education to big data to international aid and have revolutionary technologies that aspire to change the world. Each company has translated their business ideas onto giant napkins for you to learn about and be inspired by their innovations.
